Somebody writes us relative to their newspaper and asks us, to inform them whether we shall make them any at the rate of $2. per year for arrears. This person fails to sign the letter or to give his post-office address. Of course it is impossible for us to answer him other than through the ADVERTISER. Our reply is: If you will pay ahead on your paper as many as you are in arrears you can have the paper at the reduced rates. That is simply asking you to trust us as long as we have trusted you. This is a business, not a factory. Otherwise $2.00 per year will be exacted.

The Industrial Journal seems to be in a flourishing condition. It commences the New Year with a new head and a very considerable enlargement. Maine man should be proud of it. It shows up the industrial interest of the State better than any other journal. If any of our readers would like to see a sample copy one will be furnished free of charge by addressing the Journal Publishing Co., Bangor, Me., and stating that they saw this notice in the ADVERTISER.

Elsewhere we publish the County Treasurer's Report. The total resources above liabilities are $6,580,053. Count expenses for the year have been smaller than usual and fines and costs larger, hence an increase of cash on hand. This surplus of cash on hand is estimated to be only sufficient to pay running expenses until the next year's the County was obliged to borrow money to meet current expenses from Jan. to Sept. The Commissioners did not consider this a very serious matter, but have practiced economy and thereby have accumulated a sufficient fund in the treasury to save the County the expense of borrowing money. Good idea.

Arnold State of Bath was shot by his wife Wednesday afternoon of last week. The shooting occurred in a country just off the kitchen. Arnold, the housekeeper, said that Arnold wanted his wife to sign the property that was in her name over to him. She refused, and then one brought on another. Then he demanded his supper, which she said she would get for him as possible. He then went to the kitchen and he struck her by the throat, and then one brought on another.
